

Maple Leaf Gold Rink Dividers

Having trouble finding ice time for practices at your local arena? Are your players' getting up far too early in the morning just to get ice time? Have you thought about running two practices at the same time, or a practice while there is public or figure skating session? If so, then Maple Leaf Gold has the answer to save you time and money, and improve the effectiveness of your practices.

The Maple Leaf Gold Rink Divider is just what the name implies; a divider that separates your rink into two or more individual ice surfaces while providing a safe and attractive barrier that can be quickly set up or removed between events. The dividers look like a dasher board system that runs the width of your rink, and come complete with rounded corners to give the same playability as your regular rink.

Maple Leaf Gold rink dividers will increase the effectiveness of your practices as there is less time chasing stray pucks, and younger players can actually play the game rather than just skating up and down a huge surface. You can put up to three different groups onto their own small rinks within the larger surface, increasing the number of users, and either reducing user costs or increasing facility revenue.

Maple Leaf Gold Rink Dividers are made from durable light weight aluminum frames, and covered on both sides with a puck board covering. Top sill is available in any of our standard colors, as is the optional kick strip. The systems are available with straight ends or double radiused corners, an attractive portable storage cart, and an access gate to allow movement between the surfaces. The 38" high interlocking frames are quickly set up or taken down by two people in less than 15 minutes, and are easily moved to and from storage on our portable cart. It is even possible to include ad panels on the dividers, providing an opportunity for a sponsor to purchase the system and receive the appropriate recognition.
